

My name is Veronica Ferres and I support this very special breast cancer awareness campaign initiated by Sonja Dinner from all my heart!

Most of us have access to excellent medical systems. This is not the case for millions of women worldwide.

I would like to support these women with my voice and kindly ask you to carry this unique and fantastic campaign for illiterate women into the world of the poorest women since neither industry nor health system care about them as they have no buying power.

DEAR MAMMA is one of the best global projects against breast cancer

I know.

Please help me and Sonja to reach millions of women worldwide and try to prevent millions of mothers from dying just because they do not know what breast cancer is and how they can protect themselves.

Thank you

Veronica
